

SUBTLE PLANS OF MANAGERS

Stephenson Will Welcome Investigation Of His Election Expenditures In Recent Campaign.

A ROORBACK FOR THE OTHER SIDE

Resolution Will Ask That The Investigation Go Back To The Election Of 1900 As Well-Clever Move Is Planned.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 5.—A daily News special from Madison says: "There will be an investigation of some kind by the Wisconsin legislature in regard to the money expended in the election."
What is more the investigation resolution may be passed by a unanimous vote, at least that is what Stephenson men say who are cognizant of the plans now arranged by the Stephenson people. The Stephenson men themselves will support an investigation resolution and their program is practically formed.
It is understood that when the resolution is presented in the Senate for an investigation into the expenditures of the recent primary election, some supporters of Mr. Stephenson (possibly Senator H. H. Bird of Wausau) will rise and answer the amendment resolution which shall provide for a complete investigation by a legislative committee of all expenditures in elections since 1900.
In answering this amendment, the senator who presents it will on behalf of Isaac Stephenson declare that the latter will welcome the complete investigation into the expenditures and it is presumed that a detailed account of all of Senator Stephenson's expenditures have been prepared and will be presented to the committee as soon as it is organized and that Mr. Stephenson, if he is wanted, and all of his aids are willing to appear before the committee and answer any questions desired.
If the LaFollette people say they will welcome the complete investigation, Stephenson people say they expect the resolution will go through the Senate and if it passes that house alright there is no doubt of its passing in the Assembly.

NEWS FORECAST OF THE COMING WEEK

Assembling of Congress and President's Message Chief Topics of Interest.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., Dec. 5.—With the assembling of the Sixtieth Congress for its final session and the reading of the president's message, the nation will turn toward the political capital early in the coming week.
President Roosevelt's annual message to Congress will be the last of its kind which he will submit to that body and it is naturally awaited with keen public interest. At no time during his term of office has the President given attention to the preparation of a message that he has given to this one. Among the subjects of importance which the message is reasonably certain to touch upon are the passage of an anti-trust law along the lines proposed last year, needed labor legislation, additional fortifications for the Philippines and for coast defense in this country; increased power for the Interstate Commerce Commission in the supervision of rates, an endorsement of the postal savings bank project, legislation requiring publicity of campaign expenses, a new employers' liability law, the progress in the construction of the Panama canal, statehood of New Mexico and Arizona, child labor legislation, uniform divorce laws, tariff revision, and the international amity resulting from the cruise of the Atlantic fleet.
Almost simultaneous with the assembling of Congress a series of notable meetings is to be held in Washington by bodies formed to promote the various legislative measures in which the country is interested. During the week there will be meetings of the governors of all the states and their advisers, known as the National Conservation Commission, to list the natural resources of the United States; the Southern Commercial Congress, to call attention to the resources and possibilities of the south; the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, to work for a coherent policy in the development of the great natural lines of transportation, and the National Council of Commerce, to consider the important features of commercial relations at home and abroad.
An echo of the Brownsville affair will be heard in the United States Supreme Court Monday when the case of the former negro soldier, Oscar Reid, who was discharged from the service without honor, owing to his alleged participation in the Brownsville shooting will come up for argument. The suit is for pay during the time of his enlistment. The verdict of the circuit court of southern New York was against him.
President-elect Taft will go to New York Monday to speak at the annual dinner of the North Carolina Society of New York. His speech, it is expected, will be of a character to command national attention and of particular interest to the south.
The literary world, at least the English-speaking part of it, will be interested in the celebration of the Milton Tercentenary, which is to be observed by colleges, literary societies and other bodies in England and America.
A national corn exposition will open in Omaha and a national apple show will hold forth at Spokane. Both exhibitions are of wide scope and promise to attract much attention.
The trial of Col. Duane H. Cooper, Hobin Cooper and John D. Sharp, who are charged with the murder of ex-Senator Edward W. Carmack, is scheduled to begin Tuesday in Nashville, Tenn.
Unless the governor or board of pardons interfere the death sentences will be carried out on Thursday at Chicago Friday. Bink is the fortune teller who was convicted of the murder of five members of the Venz family. His case was carried to the United States Supreme Court and has attracted wide attention.

DIES FROM EFFECTS OF INJURY TO NECK

Dislocation of the Neck Was Responsible for Death of Man Living Near Monroe.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Monroe, Wis., Dec. 5.—Fred Hoff, stator, who lived three miles south of the city in Clarno township, died yesterday from the effects of a dislocated neck which injury he suffered while going home from Monroe Wednesday night. He lived thirty-six hours after the accident. Just how the accident occurred will never be known as he was alone at the time he fell from his wagon. He was found along the roadside an hour afterwards and was taken to his home. The family did not realize the seriousness of his injury until the next day when a physician was summoned. He was born in 1865 in Switzerland and came to this country twelve years ago, settling in Green county. He was married in 1890. He purchased a farm last spring and moved onto it.
Between $300 and $400 will be realized on the Hoff bull and swing-fest given here Thursday night by the "Chowchew" society. The proceeds will be turned into the treasury of the society which has a fund of $5,500. The fund is used for benefit in cases of sickness or death in the family of a member.
A. Alphonso, of near Juda, won first prize as wrestler at the swingfest, in which twenty-two men competed.
The G. U. G. lodge of this city will celebrate its twentieth anniversary with a concert and dance next Monday night. Eight charter members of the society who are still members will be present. The society has a membership of 274 and has a capital of $4,000.
Judson B. Walker, postoffice inspector, has just completed an annual inspection of the local office and found everything in good order. He made a complete inventory of the stamps, money order blanks, etc., and inspected the city and rural route carriers.

LOOPHOLES IN LAW ARE POINTED OUT

Civil Service Commission Report Shows Where the System is Faulty.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Dec. 5.—The annual report of the Wisconsin state civil service commission, submitted to Governor Davidson today, points out the fact that the loopholes through which the merit system is evaded are temporary appointments and expense accounts. It is pointed out that officers which are allowed expenses of over $100 help and pay for such assistants as expensers. A case in point is mentioned as that of the payment by the state game warden of $200 to A. C. Titus, assistant attorney general, for compiling the game laws, the official at the same time drawing his pay as a member of the state's staff of legal advisers. Temporary appointments are made, says the report, in order to get a favorite into the service and let him obtain experience that will give him an advantage over the general applicants in an examination for appointment to the position in question.
The report sets forth that there are 623 employees in the unclassified service of the state, employees not subject to the merit system of appointment. These draw salaries of about $600,000 a year. Most of these are in the state university. In the classified service there are 1,100 employees, subject to the merit system, their salaries aggregating about $1,000,000 a year. Most of these are in the state charitable and penal institutions.
The commission in the last 18 months has said 107 examinations, for positions attracting 3,547 applicants, 3,037 of whom were examined and 1,561 getting places on the eligible lists. For some positions there were too few applicants, being for places in the asylums as attendants.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, Dec. 5.—A bell presented by Emperor William of Germany to the German Reformed Church of America in East Sixty-Eighth street will be dedicated with interesting ceremonies tomorrow on the occasion of the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the founding of the church. The bell is five feet high and weighs 300 pounds. On one side it bears the German coat of arms and an inscription reciting the fact that the bell is a gift from Emperor William. Among the distinguished parishioners of the church in former times were the Baron von Stumberg, who aided the United States in the Revolution, and to whose memory a stone was placed in the church in 1793, and John Jacob Astor. The gift from the German Emperor was in recognition of the fact that the church has been the worshiping place for thousands of Germans during the century and a half of its existence.

BIG INTERNATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP MEET

Annual Six Day Grind to be Started at One Minute After Midnight Tomorrow Night.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, Dec. 5.—The week which New York annually gives to bicycle racing begins tonight in Madison Square Garden, with the usual international championship meet. This preliminary affair, however, is merely a cockle to what the appetite of the lovers of bicycling for the annual six-day grind, which will be started at one minute past midnight tomorrow night.
While cycling as a sport has steadily declined in public favor for a decade and more, this six-day survival of good old time seems to have lost none of its popularity. Thousands turn out each year to witness the event and some of the devotees have been known to remain in the garden for two and three days at a time.
The list of entries this year is calculated to furnish some good sport. As has usually been the case in late years the foreign riders are to predominate. Walter Rutt and John Stiel, who composed the German-Holland team which captured first honors in last year's race, head the list of foreign teams. Other European entries noted for their speed and endurance include Francois Faber, Hongi Lafourcade, Victor Dupre, Leon Gorgeot, Roger Houshous, Maurice Brocco, and Albert Edward Willis, the distinctive English pace follower, who recently established the world's record by riding 61 miles 905 yards in an hour.

STATE HARD UP TO DRAW ON DEPOSITS

Heavy Payment To Be Made For Capital Construction During This Month.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Dec. 5.—The state of Wisconsin is getting hard up, owing to large expenses that are coming due in the coming month. State Treasurer A. H. Dahl says that over a million dollars will be paid out during the coming month and that the amount in the treasury together with the estimated receipts for the month will be only about $500,000, so that he has been compelled to draw upon the state depositories for about $500,000. This will take out of the depositories half of the money on deposits with these banks. One of the largest expenditures to be met is that for the construction of the new capitol. Another reason for the tightness is the fact that the state university has expended all the money in its fund and is borrowing from the general fund, according to statute, to pay its coming expenses until February, when its annual tax money is collected and becomes available.

CONGRESSIONAL MILL WILL BEGIN TO GRIND MONDAY

Will Be Final Session Of Sixtieth Congress Which Expires On March Fourth.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 5.—Congress will meet on Monday for the final session of the Sixtieth Congress, remaining in session until March 4, when it expires by constitutional limitation. Much talk has been heard concerning tariff revision and other important business to be brought up this session, but as a matter of fact it is probable that little else than the passage of the various appropriation bills will be attempted. It is generally agreed among the leaders of both parties that the three months is entirely too short a time to consider and act upon measures of great importance.
Practically all of the members have arrived in the capital in readiness for the opening of the session. About the hotel lobbies, clubs and other places of resort the victors and vanquished were to be seen today congratulating and sympathizing with one another over the results of the November ballot.

In the House the session will be remarkable chiefly from the fact that it will mark the farewell appearance of many members who for years have been leaders or familiar figures about the House of Representatives. Chief among these are the veteran William F. Hepburn of Iowa, who leads the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, and Jesse Overstreet of Indiana, chairman of the Post Office and Post Roads Committee.
In Representative Overstreet, the House has lost one of its ablest legislators. Mr. Overstreet is a member of the Postal Commission, which for some six years has been working to institute a complete reorganization of the postal service. No one in Washington understands the needs of the post office in all its details better than Mr. Overstreet, and his presence is almost indispensable to a proper consideration of a postal reorganization bill. One of the features of the proposed reorganization is the establishment of the office of director of posts. This is intended to be a permanent official, and it is understood that when the time comes Mr. Overstreet will be the unanimous choice for the position.

The failure of re-election on the part of Representative Hepburn necessitates the choice of a new chairman for the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, of which the veteran member of Iowa has been the head for a number of years. By reason of the prominence of interstate commerce and pure food questions at this time this committee is one of the foremost of the House. The chairmanship is likely to go to either Representative Wagner of Pennsylvania or Representative Mann of Illinois.
Other old-timers of the House who will close up their official careers as members at this session are Robert G. Cousins of Iowa, chairman of the Foreign Affairs committee; John J. Jenkins of Wisconsin, chairman of Judiciary, who fell a victim to the anti-Cannon sentiment in his district; Charles H. Landis of Indiana, chairman of the Committee on Printing, which controls the Government Printing Office; and Thomas P. Marshall of North Dakota, chairman of Private Land Claims.

Ex-Governor Cummins of Iowa, having realized an ambition he has nursed for twenty years, will appear in the Senate to take the seat of the late Senator Allison. The session also will mark the final appearance of such well-known members as Henryway of Indiana, Platt of New York, Long of Kansas, McCrory of Kentucky, Anthony of Washington and one or two others. Unless they are re-elected by the legislature in their respective states this winter, it will be the final curtain for Foraker of Ohio, Fulton of Oregon and one or two others.
Immediately after the roll call is completed Monday the following members will take the oath prescribed for members of Congress: Albert B. Eschscholtz, First district, Louisiana; vice Adolph Meyer, deceased; George A. Barnhardt, Thirteenth district, Indiana; vice Abraham L. Brick, deceased; O. C. Wiley, Second district, Alabama; vice A. A. Wiley Wiley, deceased; John P. Swaney, Second district, Maine; vice Charles E. Littlefield, resigned; Frank E. Guernsey, Fourth district, Maine; vice Lewellyn Powers, deceased; Eben W. Martin, at large North Dakota; vice William H. Parker, deceased; Otto G. Foulker, Fourth district, New York; vice Charles T. Dunwell, deceased.

As soon as the roll has been called and the necessary preliminaries disposed of, Monday's session and house will adjourn. Monday "has a further mark or respect" to the members who have died since adjournment. In conformity with the practice established in late years, the president's message will not be read until Tuesday. The message is awaited with keen interest, though its principal features are pretty well known in advance by the leading members of Congress.

ACTS OF MALICE AGAINST HER BOY

Mrs. Donnerstag Declares That Special Deputy Who Shot Rudolph Killed Pet Deer Just For Meanness.

Mrs. Hanna Donnerstag who is here from Rhineland to visit with her sons Albert and Hugo, at the county jail, declares that the special deputy who shot down Rudolph subsequently went out of his way to kill a tame deer which Rudolph had been keeping about his cabin for four years past and had the effrontery to send her a piece of the venison. She insists that the U. S. authorities are making overtures for a money settlement for maiming her boy for life. U. S. Marshal Rock Flint telephoned Sheriff Fisher last night to learn about the condition of Albert Donnerstag, who has been very ill for some days past. He gave directions to have Albert taken to the hospital in case the physician should deem it advisable. The prisoner, however, is much better and this will not be done. Mrs. Donnerstag recently sold all her goods and chattels at auction. Deer-horns which had been bandanously mounted by Rudolph, who is a fine taxidermist, brought only one dollar.

The watch also was recovered.

NOTORIOUS CROOK WORKED GAME HERE

Lawrence T. Latahaw, convicted of Swindling Hotels at Washington, Mulctured Local Hospitality of $74.60.

Today's issue of the Hotel World chronicles the arrest and conviction at Washington, D. C., on Nov. 29 of Lawrence T. Latahaw, and publishes the sixty aliases under which he swindled as many hotels in various sections of the country within the last twelve months. The account is of local interest because the same individual visited Janesville on October 12 and under the name of E. P. Ziegler, persuaded the management of one of the hoteliers to cash a check for $74.60, purporting to be drawn by the Queen City Supply Co., of Cincinnati (rated at $150,000) on the Third Nat'l. bank of the same city. The check was numbered with a numbering machine; the name of the firm was engraved thereon; and the instrument was dated with a rubber-stamp, all of which features gave it a bona fide aspect. The Park hotel at Madison was also victimized by the same individual. He was once arrested in Texas but escaped in Tennessee while on his way to Chattanooga for trial. The Hotel World chronicles a lengthy account of the man's operations with the statement: "No forger or deceiver in the history of the hotel business has so successfully worked so many hotels in so small a region in so short a period of time."

Quaint Death Notice.

This notice appeared recently in a German paper: "Died with grief and recognizing the wisdom of God, who decreed it, the widow and four children of Hartwig Langmann make known to their relatives and friends the entry into eternal rest of a beloved husband and father! There will be no obituary at his side, because no words could describe his worth or make up for his loss. Flowers from those who share our grief should not be sent, because the custom was distasteful to him who has gone. If a desire to show such a mark of respect exists let it find expression in gifts to the poor, whose thanks we shall echo in the firm knowledge that the act would find favor with him whose life was goodness."

Church Tower His Pulpit.

Sunday last being "Feast Sunday," the vicar of Solston, Rev. C. Harrison, hit upon the novel idea of preaching from the church tower. The greater part of the congregation seated themselves on the highway.

The reverend gentleman took as his text "The Builders and the Tower," and, possessing a strong voice, his remarks were heard distinctly by the large crowd of colliers and others gathered together, the weather being all that could be desired.—London Evening Standard.

A Unique Cat.

Hornes Elliott has a handsome shag cat which he would not sell for love or money, and which is quite a curiosity. She was never known to catch a rat or mouse or anything else, and Mr. Elliott has recently found out what the trouble is. You, of course, have heard of cross-eyed cats. Well, this one is so much that way that when she attempts to catch anything she jumps in the opposite direction.—Itackland (Me.) Opinion.

Diffusing the Annoyance.

"You don't suppose we take boards because we need the money?" exclaimed Farmer Cornsossol, loftily. "I had some such idea," answered the man who had ventured to criticize, "Not at all. We just got these people in from town to keep the mosquitoes from devoting all their attention to our home circle."—Exchange.

Suggestive Questions on the Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Dr. Linscott.

Dec. 6th, 1908.

Solomon Chooses Wisdom.—1 Kings III:1-5.

Golden Text.—The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom. Prov. I:7.

Verses 1-5.—What is the chief dependence alike of a king and a citizen?

What was the chief object of sacrifice in those days? Was it to appease God, or to develop a spirit of giving to God; and did they have any idea that it prefigured the death of Jesus?

What are the chief benefits to the giver of money given to the church, to missions and to the poor?

Which is the richer man and the one who has lived to most purpose, he who dies leaving no estate, but having given to God's cause $20,000.00 during his life, or one who dies leaving an estate of $20,000.00 and having given away practically nothing during life?

Verses 6-10.—Are such visions or dreams, as Solomon had, unusual in these days to spiritually minded people?

How could Solomon distinguish his dream from an ordinary dream?

Does God still give his children a choice as to what they would like, or does he choose for them?

If God does not choose for his children, does he influence them in their choices, and what is the difference in the two supposed methods?

Verses 11-15.—What help is it to us to be able to praise God for the lives of our fathers and mothers?

Do you think it probable that our fathers and mothers, on the other side look back and see their sons and daughters here and take pleasure in their prosperity?

Verses 16-20.—Should we, like Solomon, recognize the hand of God, in putting us into our present positions?

Are great men ever boastful; and is true humility always a mark of greatness?

Verses 21-25.—Solomon's chief desire was, to have wisdom to properly administer the trust committed to him, what should be our chief desire?

No matter how grave our responsibilities, or difficult our position, is it absolutely sure that God will give us in answer to our prayer, the necessary wisdom and facilities to successfully administer our trust?

Should all men in positions of public trust, feel their insufficiency and call upon God for wisdom?

Verses 26-30.—Why did Solomon's request please the Lord?

Does God today answer every true or wise prayer, as he did this prayer of Solomon?

Would not all public, and private, sin and folly be prevented, if men only relied upon God?

What is some of the evidence that God gave Solomon great wisdom?

Happy School Days.

Tommy was about to leave the school where he had spent his first years. He went to the teacher to say good-by and added: "I am awfully sorry to leave this school. I've had such a good time at recess."—Lips pincott's.

A Sharp Answer.

"I am not happy with my husband. Can I get a separation?" asked a lady of a lawyer. "His life is insured in your favor, isn't it?" "Yes; I made him do that before we married."

"Well, don't separate. He'll live long or away from you!"

Pious Inspector.

When a milkman was fined at Brentford, England, an inspector said traders were in the habit of taking advantage of the inspector's absence at church on Sunday mornings by selling poor milk.—New Orleans Picayune.

Laughter, let it be but genuine, is of common nationalities. Indeed a common breeze; and profound disagreement is not easy after it.—George Meredith.

HOLDING ON TO TRADE

What Country Newspapers Can Accomplish in This Line.

AROUSE PUBLIC THOUGHT.

Teach the People to Overcome Abuse Founded in Centralization of Population and Trade in Large Cities. Build Up Interest in Home Towns.

The Rev. Frank Gonsalus of Chicago says that his sermons are transitory and unsatisfactory in effect. "A sermon," he says, "no matter how good, is like water that is poured through a sieve. It is the constant hammering that produces results upon the hearts of men; not what is learned today or tomorrow, but what is absorbed; a note this week and a note next which strikes a responsive chord in the hearts and lives of the different members of my congregation, no two of whom are alike in temperament, all of whom require different sermons."

If we are going to preach sermons, we must preach them regularly, not alone from the columns of a trade magazine, but from the forum where the people assemble. And the words must be uttered by those whom the people know, those in whom they have confidence and to whom they will pay attention.

We all realize how important it is that the tendency toward centralization of population and trade shall be overcome and the tide, now flowing out, be turned and made to flow in.

Those cities which become overpopulated and overprosperous at the expense of the prosperity and size of surrounding country towns and villages are like cankers, says Hardware, which impoverish the blood and gradually devour the vital spark of our social life. We have seen this work in all ages. History brings us many instances where, through centralization of power, civilization has become cancerous and rotted to its ultimate decline.

Will the lessons we should have learned from history suffice to point the way by which we may escape the pitfalls?

If we grow ill, shall we persist in treating our systems with strong medicines when deep breathing and the proper diet would soon restore us?

If in the course of time our cities, through absorbing a greater and greater portion of the population which comes to our shores, shall establish unhealthy and unnatural standards of life, shall we persist in treating the sore spots instead of purifying the circulation and building up the system?

Let us not wait until that time, but, rather, anticipate the evils which centralization is bound to bring upon us.

Who will be responsible for this centralization? The people themselves.

How will it be overcome? By educating the people. And who shall educate the people?

There is one best way to reach them, and that is through the newspapers. The newspaper is the greatest power for enlightenment which has ever blessed this globe.

Newspaper editors have a great responsibility, as they are charged with the task of molding public opinion. There are hundreds and thousands of them who have done a great work in this line.

For some months Hardware has been striving to awaken the hardware trade to a realization of the opportunity which lies within the newspaper as a means of teaching the people and overcoming abuses which have their foundation in the centralization of trade in the large cities.

Slowly, gradually, other publications have awakened to the importance of our plan. Retail associations have taken it up.

George H. Maxwell, editor of Maxwell's Talker, says in his paper: "There are many country merchants who see their trade gradually slipping away from them, leaving the country town and going to the great cities by the channel of the mail order trade."

"There are many country editors who see the prosperity of their towns depleted and circulation and advertising income reduced for the same reason."

"There are very few, however, who realize that their problem is a national one and that it is wrapped up in and a part of the great fundamental question whether this nation shall be perpetuated or shall be destroyed by the physical degeneration of humanity, the social unrest, industrial discontent, moral and political corruption and class hatred bred in the city slums and tenements and certain to culminate in anarchic crimes, riotous mobs and all destroying social upheavals as the result of some long continued period of industrial and commercial depression."

"The fact is that the upbuilding of the country town and suburban village is an antidote and safeguard against the poisonous social, moral, physical and political consequences of herding millions of our working people together in the unnatural congested life of the tenements. It is the one great question that rises above all others in importance as a problem that this nation must solve. Unless it does solve it, it will suffer death from human degeneracy—the fate of so many nations and civilizations that have risen in the past only to be destroyed. Ours will be likewise destroyed unless we take heed in time."

"Then comes the question of the growth of towns and villages. There is where the country editors and merchants can help themselves. Once get it into the minds of the whole American people that the salvation of the

Xmas Suggestions

CHRISTMAS SUGGESTIONS.

CHRISTMAS FAVORS AND DINNER CONCEITS.

The ordinary Christmas dinner is a stereotyped affair as far as the favors are concerned. The ordinary man, woman and child thinks of Christmas dinner along a plan that was devised by the first feasters. In almost every case feasting seems to be the ideal method of celebrating a holiday, be it gay or solemn. There is an old English verse that runs:

"At Christmas, men do always lay get
And in each corner of the house to get,
But why then do they use that Bacchus weed?
Because they mean then, Bacchus-like, to feed."

Since we must, perforce, bend to custom and eat the food that our ancestors felt to be festive, the hostess is somewhat handicapped as to distinctive features. All that is left is the decorations and favors, and these are expected to have a touch of the season. At a child's party a novel feature was a plum pudding.

The party was in the afternoon and did not attempt to take the place of the Christmas dinner. The table was decked with holly and the color scheme was carried out in the candies which were Turkish delights colored green and red. In the center of the table was what appeared to be a huge plum pudding, made of crepe tissue paper of a delicate brown, and flecked with dashes of paint to simulate the raisins. It was surrounded with holly, and a sprig of holly and another of mistletoe stuck in the top. Through slits in the sides came lengths of red and green baby ribbon, red for the girls and green for the boys. These extended to each plate and were strung through the place cards which were holly and mistletoe leaves with the name in gold paint. At a given signal the ribbons were pulled and a small gift found at the end. For a last course at this feast small red flower pots were lined with waxed paper and filled with vanilla ice cream, sweet chocolate and ground nuts were sprinkled thickly over the tops, and in each was planted a red carnation. The small crepe cakes served were cut in the shape of holly leaves, tied with green pistachio icing, with three red children drops pressed in at the base. Chocolate pudding might be used in place of the ice cream.

A YELLOW AND WHITE DINNER.

A bride who was far from home determined to give a dinner to a number of young married people who, like herself, had no family within visiting range. She determined that it should be a season of gaiety, and with this in mind broke away from the established traditions as to the menu, so that the quality of home longings might not interfere with the success of her feast. One of her bridal gifts had been an exquisite dinner set of gold and white china. This she determined to use as the keynote of the feast. The centerpiece was a tall crystal vase with a few heavy-headed golden chrysanthemums in it. The favors were small bon-bon boxes fashioned like chrysanthemums and filled with cream candies. The place cards were dainty little paper ladies dressed in white crepe paper and flecked with gold paint. These were for the men. Each lady had a yellow chrysanthemum with its stem reaching to the center of the table. The card was tied on with a bow of soft satin ribbon. At intervals around the table stood brass candlesticks with white and gold candles and shades made from the heavy tissue paper photographs used for covers. These were painted in water colors by the hostess, and carried out the color scheme. The menu had been selected with care and was as little reminiscent of the regulation family feast as possible. The ice was made at home and consisted of a vanilla cream made very yellow with the yolk of egg. It was served in a candy tray made by softening two tablespoonsful of gelatin in four table spoonfuls of water over the fire. Confectioners' sugar was worked in till a stiff dough was formed. This was flavored and rolled out thin on a board liberally sprinkled with powdered sugar. The petals were cut out with a small knife and moulded around white butter plates as a base. A strip of oiled paper held them in place till they hardened. These were made several days before. The ice was frozen very hard and served quickly after the ily cups were filled for fear they would melt. The black coffee was made and served before the open fire in the library after the feast, and while stories of other Christmas days were told, none were allowed to become melancholy. The thought was a gracious one and was happily carried out.

ALL BORE THEIR TRADEMARKS.

Occupations of Vacationists an Open Book to This Man.

Sherlock Holmes, seated on the boardwalk, languidly injected a pin of cocaine into his sunburnt arm. "My dear Watson," said the detective, "let us beguile an hour by picking out the occupations of these vacationists. In their cheap white flannels they all think they look like millionaires, but—ha, ha—what a delusion!"

"There goes a waiter. Waiters are to be told by the size of their feet and the soft, careful way they set them down."

"The man in the imitation Panama hat is a tanner. His clear and ruddy complexion gives him away. The tanning trade imparts to the face a peculiarly healthy look. Why shouldn't it? What is good for dead skins must be good for live ones."

"She is a cook, the stout, scarlet lady getting weighed. Her fire, of course, gave her that unmistakable color, but it was not the eating of food that made her so fat. No; cooks have notoriously poor appetites. It was the inhalation of the rich fumes of food in her kitchen that filled her out. Cooks inhale their fat. That is cheaper for the mistress, isn't it?"

"The little, thin chap in the large bathing suit is a grocer. All grocers are small and bow-legged, and they all wear light trousers and are partial to brown."

"Do you see, my dear Watson, the stately man whose overtures the girl in white just repulsed? Well, he is an actor. The muscles of his face show it. Actors, you know, by the continual practice of expression, develop face muscles as marked as the arm muscles of a baseball pitcher."

Native Education at the Cape.

Generally speaking, the natives are keen about education, though, like many Europeans, they do not much like paying for it. In England the desire for knowledge is so widespread that the percentage of children attending school compares very favorably with that of the most civilized European countries.—(Kimberly Diamond Fields Advertiser.)

Poor Richard's £1,000 a Century Later.

One hundred and eighteen years ago Benjamin Franklin left to Boston, his native city, a bequest of $5,000. That sum has now grown to be more than $300,000. Andrew Carnegie has duplicated this amount, and the result is the Franklin Union of Boston, which is an industrial school principally for men and women already at work.—World's Work.

Matches Made of Grass.

At Sholapur, British India, a factory is successfully making matches with sticks of a peculiarly stiff form of native grass.—The Times.

Wretched Pay for Labor.

At a hearing last summer in London on the "sweating" question, evidence was brought forward showing that 56 women who sewed hooks and eyes on cards earned at an average a little over 75 cents a week. Another woman was instance who worked from nine one morning until the next morning and earned 16 cents in that time. It would seem better to die.

The Dissatisfied.

The happy people in the world are those who enjoy what they have. Those for whom nothing is good enough are neither fit for earth nor would be satisfied in heaven. Here they are restless. Their lives would be damp or would not set straight. The third domain, which rhymes with well, would not be well for them, for the best would be too invariable or attending to fires would be too monotonous.

Analysis of Good Temper.

The good temper is born in nature of low vitality, iron nerves and thick skin. These are insensible to change of moral atmosphere, and what would wound another soul mortally barely inflicts a scratch on them. The rest of their emotions are usually on a par with the temper—placid, imperious and sluggish. These incapables of the passion of anger must be incapable of any other great passion.—Exchange.

THE PHONOGRAPH

Did You Ever Start a Phonograph for the Benefit of a Child?

Did you ever see the face of a child when it is absolutely happy? It is a wonderful thing to make a child happy. If an Edison Phonograph had no other mission than to entertain the children, it should be found in every home where there is even one child. But the Edison Phonograph is not merely a children's plaything, though it is the best playfellow a child can have. A child plays with its other playthings—but the Edison Phonograph plays with the child.

That same Phonograph appeals to all the children, large and small; to grown-ups as well as to the children; to guests as well as to the family.

That is why every mother, as well as every mistress of a home and every hostess should have an

Edison Phonograph

The Edison Phonograph now has the new Amerol Records, which play twice as long as the old ones, which play longer and better than any other records made.

Every mother who reads this should decide today that Christmas will bring at least one joyful entertainer into her home—an Edison Phonograph. Act on that good resolution at once. Come to our store today and hear the Edison, select your style, pick out a supply of Records, and make this Christmas a Phonograph Christmas.

STOLE LEATHER BELTING

Also Took Box of Patterns For Janesville Machine Co. From Express Truck On Depot Platform.

Thieves tore off the boards of a window-encasing opening into Schaller & McKey's planing shop sometime last evening and after gaining entrance, proceeded to rid the planer and another piece of machinery of 25 feet of 4 1/2 inch leather belting and a 12-foot length of 4 inch material. The property is worth about $25.

Not At Second Hand Stores.

Officer Patrick Fanning visited all of the second hand stores this morning in the hope of finding some trace of the stolen leather and clue to the identity of the marauders, but his quest was without results. It is believed that the job was done by outside aid.

Box Of Patterns Stolen.

A foreman of one of the railroad carpenter gangs this morning discovered behind the Russell tobacco warehouse a box of patterns consigned by express to the Janesville Machine Co. The box had been opened and tossed aside. The nature of its contents was discovered. It came in last evening and was undoubtedly taken from one of the depot trucks. In all likelihood the theft was committed by the same parties who carried away the leather belting from the planing shop.

MARYLAND COMPANY TO FURNISH BOND

Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland Makes Lowest Bid on Treasurer's Bond.

Of the eight bids for the county treasurer's bond, the one made by the Fidelity & Deposit Company of Maryland, was the lowest, their bid being $579.50 for furnishing a bond of $152,000 for two years beginning on January 1st. The companies bidding, their agents and bids were as follows: Bankers' Surety Company, C. H. Gage, $690; H. J. Cunningham, no company mentioned, $711; Fidelity & Deposit Company of Maryland, R. L. On next Saturday morning the committee will meet again to approve the bond as drawn up and also to pass upon the bonds of other county officers.

TOOK SOCKS & PANTS FROM HIS EMPLOYER

James Davis Who Came To Town of Fulton From Hebron Committed To County Jail For 30

James Davis, age 25 years, pleaded guilty in municipal court this morning to a charge of stealing on December 1 a shirt, tie, a silk handkerchief, a pair of trousers, and five pairs of socks, from his former employer, Edward Darling who resides in the town of Fulton 7 1/2 miles from this city. He said that he formerly worked for J. J. Stewart at Hebron, Ill., and came into Wisconsin some weeks ago to take a good job on the Fulton place. He was persuaded to leave this position by an acquaintance who told him there was big money working in tobacco. The salaried position did not materialize and, much discouraged, he went to work for Mr. Darling last Saturday. He couldn't understand himself, how he had come to do such a thing as steal Mr. Darling's wardrobe. He said that he bought a pair of opera glasses which was found in his kit at a second hand store in Chicago and declared that his Hebron employer, to whom the sheriff had talked over the telephone, had misjudged him in believing that an accidental exchange in razors was anything more than an accident. Mrs. Darling was in the court room to identify the stolen wearing apparel. Judge Field imposed a fine of $25 and costs amounting to $4.41, with the alternative of 30 days in jail, and Davis went to the jail.

WHEELER MAY BE REAPPOINTED BY SEN. STEPHENSON

Reported in Milwaukee That The Junior Wisconsin Senator Will Name Him To Succeed Himself.

According to a Milwaukee paper Senator Stephenson may reappoint W. G. Wheeler of this city United States District Attorney to succeed himself. Senator Stephenson and state chairman E. A. Edwards were in conference in Milwaukee yesterday and among the visitors were W. G. Wheeler, Grant U. Fisher and other prominent Republicans. The account of the conference is given as follows:

"Among the topics of the western district of Wisconsin whose term will expire next month. He was accompanied by his assistant, Henry H. Morgan, and Grant U. Fisher, assemblyman-elect from Rock county. United States Marshal Platt of the western district also was a figure in the hotel lobby. It seemed to be the impression that Mr. Wheeler would be reappointed. It is understood that Senator Stephenson gave assurances to that effect, though none of the principals cared to discuss the matter. It was noticeable, however, that Mr. Wheeler was a smile which would not come off, and his friends seemed equally satisfied with the prospect for the future. Mr. Wheeler's term expires three months before that of District Attorney Butterfield of the eastern district, the former ending his term the latter part of January and Mr. Butterfield on April 21. These are the only two federal appointments not to be made at present."

Wants Women Hatless.
A minister in a Brooklyn Baptist church requested the women of his congregation to take off their hats, and furthermore informed them if there was any woman who did not want to take off her hat she could go home. The hats came off. He told them that in the days of Corinth the headress of a woman was the badge of servitude, and he declared that in Tokyo he had seen a crowd mistake a woman's large hat for an almsbowl.

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE

Recent Discoveries and The Old Testament

by Albert T. Clay, Ph. D., professor of Archaeology in the University of Pennsylvania, Monday, December 7, 1908, at 7:45 p. m., Y. M. C. A. Auditorium.

Prof. Sayce, of Oxford, says, "Prof. Clay is one of the ablest of the younger generation of American Assyriologists. There is no one better qualified to write on the subject." Prof. Clay has been the editor and decipherer of the hundreds of cuneiform tablets found at "Nippur."

Records of the Past: "There is no one better qualified to present facts which have been brought to light in Babylonian history than Dr. Albert T. Clay."

—Frederick H. Wright, Editor.

The Christian Advocate: "The Old Testament narrative, persons and history are strongly corroborated by the extraordinary findings of late years."

Lutheran Church Review: "Doctor Albert T. Clay is known to every reader as a rising Assyriologist, whose publication of the translations and interpretation of the cuneiform text found by the Babylonian Expedition of the University of Pennsylvania have placed him in the rank of authority among Assyrian scholars."

This lecture is the unanswerable defense for the Old Testament writings, and is given under the auspices of the Teachers' Association of St. Peter's English Lutheran church.

ANTON HAIN DIED A RAVING MANIAC

SHOOK HANDS AND BURIED HATCHET

John Smith Decided This Morning Not to Have Andrew Fisher Placed Under Bonds To Keep Peace.

John Smith, who works for the Rock County Sugar Co., complained to the authorities that Andrew Fisher, a fellow employee at the beet-sugar had threatened to beat him to a pulp and perhaps dismember his mortal coil. The officers tried to reassure Smith and convince him that Fisher was only trying to frighten him, but to no avail. Smith retained Attorney O. A. Oestreich and an action was started in municipal court this morning to have Fisher placed under bonds to keep peace. However through the good offices of the lawyer, a reconciliation was effected between the two men and the case was settled out of court, contributing an equal share to the costs which amounted to $2.40. The former enemies shook hands with one another and Miss Host Carl E. Hermann, and another well-known was wiped off the map.

form thirty-nine belts around the world. The total weight of this string of pies is estimated at 9,210,000,000 pounds of flour, lard and other ingredients used in the pies. It would require 154,168 cars to transport the pies from the ovens to the consumer.

The returns show that while droughts, excessive rains, or pests wrought havoc in many districts in the middle western, eastern, and several southern states, the entire crop is fully as large as in 1907, and it is better distributed. Prices also are higher than last year. However, the domestic supply is smaller than at any time since 1896, for the reason that the demand of the export trade is heavier and increasing yearly.

Reports from a majority of the growers indicate that the condition of summer and fall apples is the best, but that in numerous districts the winter varieties are not up to the standard. This is stated, is true in Maryland, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana and Arkansas, while Massachusetts will harvest less than a 50 per cent crop. Connecticut, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Vermont report as fruit as in 1907, but the crop in Maine will be smaller than it was last year. However the quality is fair in most of the states.

IF THE 1908 APPLE CROP SHOULD BE MADE INTO PIES AND THESE PIES LAID IN ROWS AROUND THE WORLD THEY WOULD FORM THIRTY-NINE BELTS, EACH 25,000 MILES LONG.

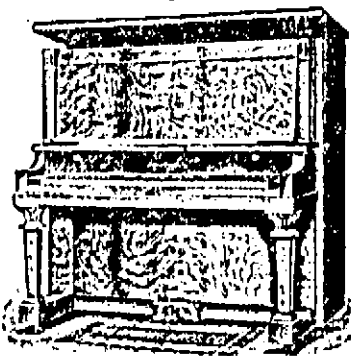

The estimated crop of apples for 1908 is 62,500,000 bushels, according to reports received by Henry J. Noely, secretary of the national apple show at Spokane. The magnitude of these figures is not appreciable unless it is put in some tangible comparison. For instance, if these apples were made into pies and placed side by side in a straight line there would be almost 275,000 miles of pies, which would

Reason For Selling the Newman Bros. Piano

Because I have found after 20 years of experience in selling pianos, that it is the best piano on earth, that I can sell for a certain price that will give entire satisfaction to the careful buyer or critic.

If you are particular, and are looking for a good, reliable, artistic, honest, durable, high grade piano, you will find it in the NEWMAN BROS. PIANO.

Now, I am telling you just what I believe, and can prove it by thousands who have purchased the same. I firmly believe that the Newman Bros. piano of today is not excelled by any and very few its equal, regardless of name. Now it is up to you to come in and examine these famous pianos and prove to your own satisfaction the above statements. One thing more I wish to say is this: that when you purchase the Newman Bros. piano you are not paying for a name, as you would do in buying some pianos whose agents control large territories and control the high prices. It costs just so much to build a strictly high grade piano and with a reasonable profit should be sold at the right price, but when you pay two and three times that price for the name, there is something wrong. If you will use some common sense you will see that this is true.

Other reasons for selling the Newman Bros. pianos are that the men back of the name put their skill, their experience, their ideals, their very characters, into every piano manufactured, so that you are running no chances when you purchase, and you are not buying a pig in the bag. There ought to be a Newman Bros. piano in every home in this city and county where there is none. You make no mistake when you purchase the Newman Bros.

What to Buy?

The all-absorbing question of today is "What to Buy?" What to give as Christmas gifts? Have you raked your mind over and over to find something nice, something that would be appreciated and have not yet found just the gift that would suit?

Two heads are better than one, and more heads are better still. Here is a part of my system. I know that the merchants have tried to outdo previous efforts to be able to present newer, better gifts than ever before and I know that just at this time they are speaking of them in their advertisements. So I read the advertisements and find out what their suggestions are. I venture to say that in this paper there are hundreds of good suggestions if you will only turn the pages and read. I do, and I find it helps and so will you. And when I read something that seems suitable and the price is within reach, I make a note of it and remember my good resolution to shop early. And then, too, there is the fear that someone might get in ahead of me, so that the best may have been selected.

There is always the thought of others, too; the thought that I may relieve somewhat the congestion of the last two weeks.

RISE OF MARQUETTE
SURPRISE TO FANS

Within Last Two Years It Has Developed Into First Class Football University.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 5.—The wonder of the western football world has been the rapid advance made by Marquette university of this city, which from a second rate college has developed into a first class football university in two years. Two years ago Marquette was a poor third in the race for the state college championship. Last year the school won the state championship and this year the Marquette eleven held the University of Wisconsin to a 9 to 6 victory, played Illinois a 6 to 6 tie score, and was only defeated by Notre Dame 6 to 0, coming nearer the Notre Dame goal line than even the University of Michigan had been able to get.

As a result of this showing, Marquette is now negotiating for four big games in Milwaukee in 1909, with Notre Dame, the University of Illinois, the University of Wisconsin and with the University of Michigan. The Marquette team which figured on the 1908 eleven will all be back in the game next fall, and it is expected that the university will make even a stronger showing than was made this season.

The work done this season has been a repetition of the athletic campaign carried on at St. Louis university. The athletic advance of Marquette has been under the direction of the same man who made St. Louis university a power in the athletic world. A year ago the Rev. James McCabe, formerly of St. Mary's Kansas, and later of St. Louis university, was made president of Marquette, which had just purchased the historic Milwaukee College, the Milwaukee law school, and unannounced these professional schools with a new college of engineering. In the old Marquette college, making the whole Marquette university. With President McCabe came the Rev. Simon Nicholas, who had put St. Mary's to the front in an athletic way. Prof. Nicholas had been the man largely responsible for the athletic advance of St. Louis, for it was he who secured Coach Ed. Coehne, a former Wisconsin star, and gave him full control over St. Louis athletics. St. Louis from an unknown college had become a football playing university able to cope with the biggest of the western universities, and had made football a recognized institution in St. Louis. This work accomplished, Prof. Nicholas was sent on to Milwaukee, and at once began the building up of an athletic body here. The result was Marquette's rapid rise this season. Milwaukee, by Marquette's success, was driven football mad, and the Marquette field was crowded for the Thanksgiving day game with Notre Dame, a bigger crowd attending than at any football game ever before played in this city.

Prof. Nicholas, with Coach Jeneau, has announced that Marquette will next year make its aim the placing of Marquette on an equal plan with the Universities of Chicago and Wisconsin, in a football way, and as a matter of fact the manner in which Marquette this year demonstrated its athletic prowess placed it above half of teams in the western conference. Wisconsin, strong as it was, only won in the last three minutes of play by a free kick at goal from the 25-yard line.

Although he did not rank as one of the regular members of the team, it was a Rock county boy, a former player at Beloit academy, that was one of those largely responsible for the great Marquette showing. P. W. Lehman of Merton, joined the squad at Army Lake, when in summer training, and served all season as a substitute guard and center. He played in several of the big games, against Walter Eckersall's team, against Wisconsin, and against St. Thomas. It was his first year at Marquette, and he is expected to do great things next season.

NEW GOLD COINS ARE NOW IN CIRCULATION

St. Agnes Money Begins Its Tour of the Country—Several Found in Local Banks.

Already several stray coins of the St. Agnes type of United States gold coins have made their appearance in the Janesville banks. They are in the $2.50, $5 and $10 denominations and appeared a recent coinage which proved to be unsatisfactory from a commercial standpoint in that they would not strike properly. The raised design of the Indian being so placed that in the stacks they would not fit each other. The new coins have the Indian on one side and on the other side an American eagle. The few coins thus far reaching Janesville were eagerly taken up by local bank depositors although several of the banks will have a supply for the Christmas gift trade.

Curtain of Cab Came in Contact
With it and the Fire Spread
Rapidly—Little Damage Done.

Thursday morning at the St. Paul roundhouse a cab on one of the engines was set on fire and had to be extinguished by the use of the fire hose in the shops. The fire was started by a curtain in the cab catching on fire. One of the night workmen had been working in the cab and left his torch on the cab seat. In some way the cab curtain came in contact with it and immediately caught fire. The flames spread rapidly and soon the entire cab was in flames. The fire was soon extinguished by the roundhouse force and the engine was able to go out on the run.

HAPPY NOW,
Family of Twelve Drink Postum.

"It certainly has been a blessing in our home," writes a young lady in regard to Postum.

"I am one of a family of twelve, and, before using Postum, would make a healthy person uncomfortable by their complaining of headache, dizziness, sour stomach, etc., from drinking coffee.

"For years Mother suffered from palpitation of the heart, sick headache and bad stomach and at times would be taken violently ill until about a year ago she quit coffee and began Postum.

"My brother was troubled with headache and dizziness all the time he drank coffee. All those troubles of my mother and brother have disappeared since Postum has taken the place of coffee.

"One of my brothers declared he would stick to coffee if it killed him, which we thought it was doing. One day we ran out of coffee and being a mile from town we gave him Postum without saying what it was.

"Oh! My!" he said, "the coffee is the best thing I have ever tasted!"

"A sister was ill nearly all her life with headache and heart trouble, and about all she cared for was coffee and tea. The doctors told her she must leave them alone, as medicine did her no permanent good.

"She thought nothing would take the place of coffee until we induced her to try Postum. Now her troubles are all gone and she is a happy little woman enjoying life as people should.

"I think everyone who makes Postum according to directions on the package will find it a success."

"There's a Reason."

JACK WILCE CHOSEN
AS BADGER CAPTAIN

Milwaukee Man To Lead University
Of Wisconsin Football Team
Next Year.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Dec. 5.—Jack Wilce of Milwaukee will lead the badger football team on the gridiron next fall, having been elected to the position by votes of his team mates of the past season. Oscar P. Osthoff of Milwaukee and Frank E. Hoyle of Eau Claire were also in the running for the captaincy. On the first ballot Wilce had six votes, Osthoff four and Hoyle two. One more ballot gave Wilce and Osthoff six each and the third ballot gave Wilce seven and Osthoff five. Wilce played fullback for two seasons, this year playing as strong a game as he is generally known by the critics as the leading all-weather fullback. He is not a particularly brilliant player, but works hard and effectively all the time and is expected to become a great field general. He was a member of the Wisconsin freshman crew which won the freshman race in the intercollegiate regatta on the Hudson river at Poughkeepsie in 1907, and is a prominent basketball player.

Wisconsin loses six men from the twelve regulars of the past season, four the men and two from the back field, so promising some of the substitutes and freshmen that the declaration is heard that probably none other than Wilce will be able to make the team of those who made up the back field this year. This is extremely doubtful, however, when one notes the regularity with which experienced players are selected over promising new material. The two back field players who will be lost are "Costa" Cunningham of Chippewa Falls and Ralph W. Muckelston of Waukesha, who supplied between them the position of right halfback. Neither was quite up to the varsity standard, and their loss will positively not be felt. Wilkinson and Anderson are already picked by the fans as leading candidates to fill the vacancies. Wilkinson played a great game at half on the scrubs, and Anderson, a Chicago lad, kicked drop kicks and made sensational runs for the freshmen from the position of quarterback. Some profess to believe that he is a better man than "Koehle" Moll, who played quarter this year, but it must be considered that Moll was never in perfect condition during the past season, suffering from a severe attack of rheumatism which held him in bed part of the summer, and he will be better next season in all probability. Larry Culver of Appleton, who played left half all through the past season, will be eligible for another year, and should hold his place against all comers. The probable Wisconsin backfield combination for 1909, therefore, is Captain Wilce at fullback, "Koehle" Moll at quarter, Culver at left half and Anderson and Wilkinson fighting for right half.

In the line the badgers lose four regulars—Center, Ewald Stichen, Guards, John Mossmore and Carl E. Prenter, and Captain Rogers, left end, "Johnny" Lewis will be back at right end and no one suspects that he can be seriously pressed for the place. He played a game this past season wonderful for its reliability and steadiness, and after the Chicago game, Coach Stagg remarked, full of admiration, that Dean played the greatest game of any member of the Wisconsin team. Much of the Chicago attack was sent against Dean, but he was consistently with the goods. "Johnny" Schneider, the former Beloit college fullback, who played a strong game at end on the freshmen team this year, will have a good show for the end place left vacant by the graduation of Captain Rogers. For Stichen's hard place at center rush, "Marty" Arpin, one of the most promising members of the squad at the opening of the season, is the leading availability. He was looked upon as a certain member of the varsity team, but had to stop playing owing to an attack of typhoid fever. Macmillan, Finser and Hartmoller, star members of the freshmen eleven, are being given prominence in the lineup with reference to filling the two guard positions to be vacated by Prenter and Mossmore. There are a score of other good men already in sight, and the prospects for next season's football team are excellent. The athletic officials are determined to more systematically look after the chess room work of the football players, and not allow them to fall behind and incur disabilities.

MONTGOMERY TALKS ABOUT INTERURBAN

Head of the Madison Interurban Discusses the Probability Of the Janesville Interurban.

President F. W. Montgomery of the Madison electric railway stated in an interview at Milwaukee recently that when the Cincinnati Construction Company of Janesville was ready to talk business with him relative to the running of its interurban cars over his city line into Madison he would be glad to refer the matter to the State Railway Commission for adjustment.

The statement of Mr. Montgomery will remove one of the greatest obstacles that has been in the way of the interurban promoters in the past. The entrance into Madison has been a problem for them for ever since owing to the wording of the franchise held by the Madison company which will not permit any other road to parallel their lines short of two city blocks.

Owing to the geographical location of Madison entrance into the city would be practically barred and Mr. Montgomery has in the past tried to prevent roads from entering the city by demanding unusual concessions for permission to run over his tracks. At present his line extends to the south Madison district near the Fair Grounds and Chautauqua grounds.

H. H. Ziegler, President of the Cincinnati Company, stated in an interview given out as he was passing through the city on his way to Cincinnati to attend a directors' meeting, that Chief Engineer Ellis had given instructions to finish his levels as far as the western end of Lake Waubesa at once and be prepared to run his transit line into Madison before the end of next week.

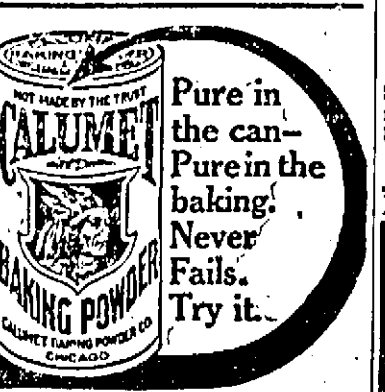

"We already have a franchise in Stoughton and the citizens of Edgerton are anxious for us to run our line down the main street of the city," said Mr. Ziegler. "This matter will be taken up at once after which I expect a short time later to present our claims to the state railway commission for a franchise."

"My directors have instructed me to push the preliminary work from now on so that actual work can be begun in the spring and the road constructed as far as possible by next winter. We have already expended too much money to drop the project and will build the road. I expect our entrance into Madison will be over Montgomery's lines if satisfactory arrangement can be made if not we will get into the city any way on our tracks."

For the present Mr. Ziegler is making his headquarters with the surveying party but the head office of the company will remain in Janesville with Chief Engineer Ellis in charge of the Wisconsin end while Mr. Ziegler is away. The surveying party was well out of Stoughton this morning working towards Second Lake.

"Make it all the worse," decided, how could we cook anything? All these reeds are green, or at least water-soaked."
"But Mr. Blake said to gather some fish. Had you not best?"
"He can pick up all he wants. I shall not touch the beastly things."
"Then I suppose there is nothing to do but wait for him."
"Yes, if the sharks do not get him," Miss Leslie uttered a little moan, and Winthrop, seeing that she was on the verge of tears, hastened to reassure her. "Don't worry about him, Miss Genevieve! He'll soon return, with nothing worse than a blistered back. Follows of that sort are born to hang, you know."

"But if he should be—if anything should happen to him!"
Winthrop shrugged his shoulders, and drew out his silver cigarette case. It was more than half full, and he was highly gratified to find that neither the cigarettes nor the vesta matches in the cover had been reached by the wet.

"By Jove, here's luck!" he exclaimed, and he bowed to Miss Leslie. "Pardon me, but if you have no objections—"

The girl nodded as a matter of form, and Winthrop hastened to light the cigarette already in his fingers. The smoke by no means tended to lessen the dryness of his mouth; yet it put him in a reflective mood, and in thinking over what he had read of shipwrecked parties, he remembered that a pebble held in the mouth is supposed to ease one's thirst.

To be sure, there was not a sign of a pebble within miles of where they sat; but after some reflection, it occurred to him that one of his steel keys might do as well. At first Miss Leslie was reluctant to try the experiment, and only the increasing dryness of her mouth forced her to seek the promised relief. Though it failed to quench her thirst, she was agreeably surprised to find that the little flat bar of metal eased her craving to a marked degree.

Winthrop now thought to rig a shade as Miss Leslie had done, out of reeds and his handkerchief, for the sun was scorching his unprotected head. Thus sheltered, the two crouched as comfortably as they could upon the half-dried crust of the hummock and waited impatiently for the return of Blake.

CHAPTER III. The Worth of Fire.

THOUGH the sea within the reefs was fast smothering to a glassy plain in the dead calm, they did not see Blake on his return until he struck shallow water and stood up to wade ashore. The tide had begun to ebb before he started landward, and though he was a powerful swimmer, the long pull against the current had so tired him that when he took to wading he moved at a tortoise-like gait.

"The bloom is faded!" commented Winthrop. He glanced quickly about, and at sight of Miss Leslie's arching brows, hastened to add: "Beg pardon! No—ah—reminds me so much of a navy, you know."

Miss Leslie made no reply. At last Blake was out of the water and toiling up the muddy beach to the spot where he had left his clothes. While dressing he seemed to recover from his exertions in the water, for the moment he had finished he sprang to his feet and came forward at a brisk pace.

As he approached, Winthrop waved his fifth cigarette at him with languid enthusiasm, and called out as heartily as his dry lips would permit: "I say, Blake, do you glad the sharks didn't get you?"

"Sharks?—bah! All you have to do is to splash a little, and they haul out." "How about the steamer, Mr. Blake?" asked Miss Leslie, turning to face him.

"Curse it!—wire rigging at that! Couldn't even get a bolt."

"A bolt?"
"Not a bolt; and here we are as good as naked on this infernal—hey, you! what you doing with that match? Light your cigarette—light it!—Damnation!"

Headless of Blake's warning cry, Winthrop had struck his last vesta, and now, angry and bewildered, he stood staring while the little taper burned itself out. With an oath, Blake sprang to catch it as it dropped from between Winthrop's fingers. But he was too far away. It fell among the damp rushes, spluttered, and flared out.

For a moment Blake knelt, staring at the rushes as though appalled; then he sprang up before Winthrop, his bronzed face purple with anger. "Where's your matchbox? Got any more?" he demanded.

"Last one, I fancy—yes; last one, and there are still two cigarettes. But look here, Blake, I can't tolerate your talking so decently."

"You idiot! you—you—Holl! and every one for cigarettes!"
From a growl Blake's voice burst into a roar of fury, and sprang upon Winthrop like a wild beast. His hands closed upon the Englishman's throat, and he began to shake him about, paying no heed to the blows his victim showered upon his face and body, blows which soon began to lessen in force.

Terrified, Miss Leslie put her hands over her eyes, and began to scream—the piercing shriek that will unnerve the strongest man. Blake paused as though transfixed, and as the half-suffocated Englishman struggled in his grasp, he flung him on the ground and turned to the screaming girl.

"Stop that squawking!" he said. The girl cowed down. "So; that's better. Next time keep your mouth shut."

"You—you brute!"
"Good! You've got a little spunk, eh?"

"You coward—to attack a man not half your strength!"
"Steady, steady, young lady! I'm warm enough yet; I've still half a mind to wring his fool neck."

"But why should you be so angry? What has he done, that you—"
"Why—why? Lord! what hasn't he done? This coast fairly swarms with heathens. We've not the smell of a gun; and now this idiot—this dough-head—has gone and thrown away our only chance—fire—and on his measly cigarette!" Blake choked with returning rage.

Winthrop, still panting for breath, began to creep away, at the same time unclasping a small penknife. He was white with fear; but his gray eyes—when on shipboard Blake had never seen other than offensively supercilious—now glinted in a manner that served to alter the American's mood. "That'll do," he said. "Come here and show me that knife."

"I'll show it you where it will do the most good," muttered Winthrop, rising hastily to repel the expected attack.

"So you've got a little sand, too," said Blake, almost good-naturedly. "Say, that's not so bad. We'll call it quits on the matches. Though how you could go and throw them away—"

"Dance take it, man! How should I know? I've never before been in a wreck."

"Neither have I—this kind. But I tell you, we've got to keep our think tanks going. It's a guess if we see tomorrow, and that's no joke. Now do you wonder I got hot?"

"Indeed, no! I've been an ass, and here's my hand to it—if you really mean it's quits."

"It's quits all right, long as you don't run out of sand," responded Blake, and he gripped the other's soft hand until the Englishman winced. "So; that's settled. I've got a hot temper, but I don't hold grudges. Now, where's your salt?"

"I—well, they were all spoiled."

"Spilled?"

"The sun had shriveled them."

"And you call that spoiled! We're like to eat them rotten before we're through with this picnic. How about the pools?"

"Pools? Do you know, Blake, I never thought of the pools. I stopped to

FOR COUGHS AND COLDS

PREVENTS PNEUMONIA

I had the most debilitating cough a mortal was ever afflicted with, and my friends expected that when I left my bed it would surely be for my grave. Our doctor pronounced my case incurable, but thanks be to God, four bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery cured me so completely that I am all sound and well.—MRS. EVA UNCAPHER, Grovetown, Ind.

watch you, and then we were so anxious about you—"

Blake grunted and turned on his heel to wade into the half-drained pool in whose midst he had been deposited by the hurricane.

Two or three small fish lay faintly wriggling on the surface. As Blake splashed through the water to seize them his foot struck against a living body which floundered violently and flashed a brilliant forked tail above the muddy water. Blake sprang over the fish, which was entangled in the reeds, and with a kick flung it clear out upon the ground.

"A coryphæus!" cried Winthrop, and he ran forward to stare at the gorgeously colored prize.

"Coryphæus?" repeated Blake, following his example. "Good to eat?"

"Fine as salmon. This is only a small one, but—"

"Fifteen pounds if an ounce!" cried Blake, and he thrust his hand in his pocket. There was a moment's silence, and Winthrop, glancing up, saw the other staring in blank dismay.

"What's up?" he asked.

"Lost my knife."

"When?—in the pool? If we felt about—"

"No; aboard ship, or in the surf—"

"Here is my knife."

"Yes; almost big enough to whittle a match! Mine would have done us some good."

"It is the best steel."

"All right; let's see you cut up the fish."

"But you know, Blake, I shouldn't know how to go about it. I never did such a thing."

A SUGGESTION OF ECZEMA.

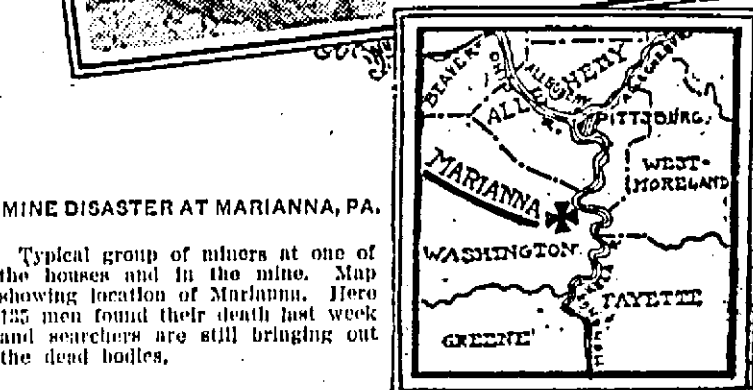

It is suggested that eczema sufferers ask druggists J. P. Baker and E. H. Holmstrom of this city what reports they are getting from the patients who have used the oil of wintergreen liquid compound, D. D. D. Prescription.

MORITZ ROSENTHAL, THE CHICAGO ATTORNEY, DEFENDING THE STANDARD OIL TRUST.

Moritz Rosenthal gets more than $100,000 each year from the Standard Oil company. This much is known. It is reported, and not denied, that he receives in addition $1,000 a day when actively engaged in the defense of John D. Rockefeller and John D. Archbold. Mr. Rosenthal has not received the publicity which many of his contemporaries have in connection with such suits but he has made himself famous as one of the cleverest lawyers in the country.

Mr. Rosenthal was born in Dixon, Ill., 41 years ago, is a graduate of the University of Michigan, was made assistant attorney general of Illinois and

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, Dec. 5, 1868.—Arrested For Forgery.—A young man about 19 years of age, giving his name as Orlando May, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of forgery. The circumstances are that he went to C. H. Conrad with an order for eighteen dollars purporting to be signed by Mr. Guy Wheeler. The money was paid to him and he went off, but the document was soon discovered to be a forgery, and a warrant was issued for his arrest. He was soon found and brought into the police court, where he stated that he was an entire stranger to the money, and recently came from New York State. When questioned as to how he knew anything about Mr. Wheeler he declined to answer. There is evidently a tale to his kite, which if traced, may lead to the implication of other parties. The young man is now held to answer and is bailable with Captain Pitham. He is undoubtedly a new hand in this species of robbery and has been lured to the deed by others.

Busy.—The streets have presented a more thronged appearance than usual, but farmers generally are holding back their grain for higher prices. Wood is worth eight dollars and hay about $15 per ton, varying in price according to the quality.

Y. M. C. A.—The election last evening resulted as follows: O. H. Smith, President; James Harris, vice-president; S. B. Smith, recording secretary; A. H. Baxter, Correspondent; W. T. Vaudrick, Treasurer; Wm. Smith, Jr., Librarian; W. S. Bowen, Assistant and Wm. Smith, Jr., Marshal.

Prefer Cash to Checks.

The bank check has taken much hold as yet upon the citizens of Mexico, especially when amounts of less than $1,000 are concerned. They consider it much easier to pay spot cash than to give a check for amounts of $50 and $100 and maintain with some amount of reason that a business deal can be put through with better advantage when the cash is in sight.

AT THE PLAY HOUSES

The Wonderful Wishing-Pole. Do not ask for "Pure Reason" in an extravaganza. Anything may come to pass, once you have run guardhouse of humdrum life. Little Maudie's strange adventures may be likened to those of Little Nemo in Slumberland. Only she wished most wishfully to grow up, and that is why she came to start out on the wonderful pilgrimage to the Wishing-Pole which is located in the wonderful city of Illusia. Now this Wishing-Pole was very carefully guarded by the city by the Queen's guards and Little Maudie was condemned to a dark dungeon, but being in the Wishing-Land, it transpired that while she was on her way to prison, a longing for home and her father and mother took possession of her. Then and thereupon the Fairy Prince Timmy appeared, garbed as a knight, and with his flaming sword, thwarted the myrmidons in their evil designs. There was a disconcertment in the store for the naughty queen, Aurora. She had never seen a mirror. Such outposts of the Queen's army. But very fortunately, in the light of after developments, the pilgrim fell in with Kankakee and Kokomo, an Iroquois chief and his daughter, and they showed the way.

In the meantime Kokomo fell in love with Cynel Morse and married him. And Princess Sianaka, the Ice Vostal, whom the Queen hated on account of her beauty, won the devotion of the intrepid balloon-explorer, Shellman, and was delivered from her crystal prison by a kiss.

These were vicissitudes, too. The explorers were captured within the things were unknown in Illusia. The very fortunately, in the light of after developments, the pilgrim fell in with Kankakee and Kokomo, an Iroquois chief and his daughter, and they showed the way.

Little Maudie found that it was better to grow up slowly like ordinary children and wished herself back home with her parents. And sure enough, there she was, in the twinkling of an eye.

The "Top O' The World" extravaganza will be presented by the original company of 70 people, under Elko's auspices, at the Myers theatre next Tuesday evening.

With a company of twenty-five people, and the reputation of being the greatest musical comedy success of the season in the East, "Miss Manhattan" will be presented here at the Myers Theatre on Thursday, Dec. 9. Unlike most of the so-called musical comedies, with which the public has been so often misled, there is nothing in "Miss Manhattan" that is not entirely new and original. To begin with, the play has a distinct plot which deals with the joys and sorrows, successes and mishaps, ups and downs, fortunes and misfortunes of Timothy. Doubtless an ambitious and would be politician of New York. It is necessary to say that the theme affords unlimited scope for really and clever work by the comedians engaged (every member of the company being an artist of standing and reputation) besides the production of some beautiful stage pictures of pretty girls, gorgeously costumed and magnificent scenery. The piece sparkles with clean and keen wit and satire, brilliant repartee, beautiful music, catchy songs and choruses, and some concerted gags which are already the popular hits of the East.

The company carries its own special scenery which was painted expressly for this production, including "The enchanted Cave" one of the greatest masterpieces of scenic art and mechanical skill ever staged which is produced in the second act, and which is a revelation of gorgeousness.

The entire production has been superintended and perfected under the supervision of Joe Oppenheimer the well known veteran producer of spectacular and musical successes, which fact alone is a guarantee that the piece is all that could be claimed for it, and fully entitled to the flattering criticism accorded it by the Eastern critics during its long run in Boston, where it closed a few days ago.

Early application for seats is requested to avoid disappointment as the house is always sold out for this play.

BURR OAK. Burr Oak, Dec. 5.—Many of the farmers have stopped stripping tobacco due to the cold weather.

J. Churchill left Thursday for Harmony where he will saw wood for P. Grundy.

Mr. Sylvester Walworth, who formerly lived in this vicinity, passed to that great beyond Wednesday evening at 10 o'clock, at his home in Edgerton. He was an old and respected resident and the bereaved family has the sympathy of this community.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Hopkins, A. D. Murphy and sister, L. Hubbard and family, were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Seth Pope Sunday.

Louise Dickerson has been quite ill the past two weeks.

Mrs. Henry Shuman is visiting friends near Lake Koshkonong.

Farm Life Brought Into Union of Cities and Towns.

The social conditions of farm life undoubtedly are deplorable in certain parts of the country, and in other parts far from ideal, and yet there can be no doubt that in a considerable section there has been a notable improvement. This has been the result in the main of three things; first, of the telephone; second, of the trolley, and third, of good roads. All three are tending to make farm life less solitary and to bring it into closer union with the cities and towns. In other words, some of the advantages of town life are being brought to the farms, and this is tending, mightily, to give to farm life more refinement and comfort and communication with the outer world. This improvement which has taken place in a part of the country, ought to extend to all parts, and while in general it may be said that it must inevitably come about as a result of a natural economic progress, yet much may be gained by the appointment of the commission which President Roosevelt has named.—Wall Street Journal.

Policeman's Pardonable Error.

Arthur Roberts, the popular comedian, got up very early one day recently he had bathed, dressed, and breakfasted, and was out on the doorstep by half-past eight. There he was greeted by the local constable, "Good night, Mr. Roberts!" said the policeman, cheerily.
